

2018 EGG BRANDS

Happy Chicken Farms – Columbus, Ohio hometown brand

Produced in the western Ohio counties of Mercer and Darke about 90 minutes from Franklin County. We are still purchasing fresh eggs from many of the same family egg farms that our parents and grandparents did back in 1961. Eggs are collected at the farms daily and processed in the small town of Philothea near Coldwater, Ohio. All these egg layers are housed in full accordance with the United Egg Producers Animal Care guidelines assuring customers that our hen's environment is safe, humane and disease and predator free. We also participate in the Ohio Egg Quality Assurance Program; a voluntary program which helps minimize the risk of Salmonella in eggs. Our layers are feed a scientific blend of Ohio grown corn and soybeans supplemented with vitamins and minerals. All these result in us having Happy Chickens laying the best eggs; USDA Grade AA...and we have been doing it for 65 years!

Green Field Farms Organic – From Ohio's Amish Country

These Certified Organic Grade A Brown Eggs come from hens that roam freely, have clean dry bedding on which to lay their eggs and are fed a special diet consisting of the required organic feeds. The Amish families that produce these fresh eggs are devoted to both their way of life as well as the care of their birds.

Rose Acre Farms – Our Supplier of Egg Products

Family owned and operated, they have been in the business of producing fresh eggs since the 1930's. We source all our liquid processed whole eggs and egg products from this producer with headquarters in southern Indiana, about 3 hours from Columbus. All the eggs used in the processing of liquid are under the supervision of the USDA and FDA

Sauder's Eggs – A Great Family Business Supplying Specialty Eggs

Located in Eastern PA, this is where we purchase our hard cooked eggs and other specialty eggs for retail and foodservice use.
